I do not like the return case comment !!!
That is not what overtime is for. That is just a dig.

Bill originally said if they need it let them use it. He does not approve it. They just put it in Work Day and they get paid. My whole team has been using some. Bill originally said if they need it let them use it. He has not questioned. I just wanted it for my own info.

He is not the highest. We can talk later

I have not asked for any overtime
I would send to Bill and see what his decision would be.
Does he approve it?

Good Morning. I don't know if you are asking for info when they do overtime. I have been asking when over 40. Personally I want a little more detail but don't want to be a pain in the neck since you will get him next week. Should I leave it alone? IF not I will treat him as I treat the others and ask for a bit more detail. Let me know.

Three cases assigned should not mean overtime. I get he needs to make tip and so on. If you are not asking I will let it go
